Christian Turnbull Air Force ROTC Spotlight – Transcript

[CHRISTIAN: 00:00-00:05] – I'm Christian Turnbull and I'm from Columbia, South Carolina

[00:05-00:13] Air Force ROTC, is a way for me, to just join something that's bigger than myself and it's preparing me to serve my country in the future.

[00:13-00:40] The rewards and opportunities are great for the ROTC program. You can do so many things that other kids your age are not going to be doing just from joining the program. You can compete for scholarships within the program, and you can even come into the program from high school with scholarships. So, you're getting a lot of money to go to school here to learn and get your degree. In addition, as soon as you get done and graduate you have a specific job in the Air Force and you're already ahead of your peers out of college.

[00:43-00:56] After graduation, I'll be going to Tyndall Air Force Base to complete my Undergraduate Air Battle Manager Training (UABMT) course. And then from there on, I'll be going to Tinker Air Force Base to continue my training and become a fully rated Air Battle Manager (ABM).
